

Children's Lolly Test

A college professor was doing a study, testing the senses of first graders, by using a bowl of Lifesavers.

He gave all the children the same kind of Lifesavers, one at a time, and asked them to identify them by colour and flavour.

The children began:

"Red.....cherry,"

"Yellow.....lemon,"

"Green.....lime,"

"Orange.....orange."

Finally the professor gave them all a HONEY-flavoured lifesaver.

After eating them, none of the children could identify the taste.

"Well," he said, "I'll give you all a clue. It's what your mother may sometimes call your father."

One little girl looked up in horror, spat hers out, and yelled, "Oh My God! Spit them out everyone.

They're assholes!"