

Boss,

I thought I should inform you immediately that I shall be unable to attend work today due to my being stung by a wasp whilst sleeping last night. As I'm sure you will no doubt appreciate the weather has been extremely warm, leading to my sleeping unclothed and without bed sheeting. It is this position of sleeping which left me vulnerable to the wasp's attack

As proof of my dire circumstance I enclose a picture to act as proof of my discomforting situation. I trust that this shall suffice until I provide the usual statutory certification.

Please view below.....

