

Why do Men?

Why do men always have to perv at other women?

It's a Testosterone thing! Do you really think all our testosterone just fell out of our bodies the moment we met you? Actually, woman seem to be able to do this trick quite well, they are just better at not being caught doing it!!

Women just need one good look but we men actually need to burn the image into our memory by staring as much as we can!!!

Why can't men just say "I Love You?"

Men are taught from a very young age to be self-sufficient. To say that we love you is equivalent to saying that we need you. Most men consider that to be a character fault. It's just not easy to admit to one's own character faults!

Why do some men say "I Love You" when they hardly know me?

Well, Well, Well...aren't you a very special woman to be told that! Some men think its a sure fire way to get into your pants and surprisingly, it actually works quite well.....

What does it mean when men say, "Can we just be friends?"

Generally, it means that the recipient of this particular comment is physically repulsive enough that no amount of beer consumed may be enough to provide adequate protection.

What's with all the belching and farting?

This usually occurs after many months of dating. It's a man way of letting you know that we are comfortable with you. Believe it or not, it's actually a sign of affection! Besides, holding it for extended periods of time gives us bad cramps.

Why do men like younger women?

Well now let's see...Besides the fact that they like older men, they're easily impressed! They're so perky, energetic and come with very little baggage. There is also less evidence of gravity's handy work on their bodies!!!!

Why do men always have to touch themselves, especially in public?

We occasionally need to adjust our little friend and make him happy. It's much like adjusting your bra. Being in public is just an added bonus.

Why do men always say such stupid things?

We like to. It's actually a whole lot of fun to see our mate frustrated by a few simple and well chosen words.

Why do men always speak to my breasts?

Boy, aren't we a little proud of ourselves! Maybe we should start speaking to your heart! The truth is that for many women, breasts may be the most interesting aspect of their personality! Yes Yes..., it does depend on the particular woman (and the particular breasts!).

Why do men hate shopping?

Going shopping simply makes no sense to any kind of men! This is comparable to going from restaurant to restaurant, looking at all the food, putting some in your mouth, but never actually swallowing! (We won't even start on the subject of swallowing and women here!)

Why are men such jerks?

It's a testosterone thing. Much similar to a woman's PMS thing, we men suffer from testosterone poisoning. Why do you think the average lifespan of a male is typically 10 years shorter? And its not just from all the bitching and nagging we have to endure! Hormone modifies behavior. We are just misunderstood!

Why can't men ever leave the toilet seat down?

Have you ever seen one of us pee? The proper position of the toilet seat is up. Besides its actually a courtesy that we lift the seat. Why would we care if we pee all over the seat? You're the ones that have to sit on it! You should appreciate the fact that we actually lift the darn thing. After all we aim to please!

Why are men so annoying?

We're not! You're just moody What it is that time of the month again!

Do men really fake orgasms?

Yes. Especially as we get older! If the sex is particularly bad or we realize we've made some sort of mistake, we sometimes fake it and try to salvage a good night's rest!

Why do most men name their private parts?

Contrary to popular belief, most men don't actually get to name their private parts Men have to address our best friend, and confident, however he wishes. Why do you think that most of these names start with Mister? The last thing men want is to have their penis mad at them!

Why do men have to act like such retards?

Well, we don't actually have to; we do it because we enjoy it. It's the old fashioned pride in the job well done that's missing in so much of the world today!

What does it mean when men tell you that they prefer women who don't wear a lot of makeup?

This is our subtle way to tell you that your makeup looks like it was applied by a team of concrete renderers. How dare women accuse us men of having no tact!

Why won't men ever pick up after themselves?

Why should we! It doesn't really bother us that much. Besides, we know darn well you'll pick it up when you finally get tired of looking at it!